

twitter game

    http://foobar.davidazaria.wdipproject-1.html/2

but first, some information about you

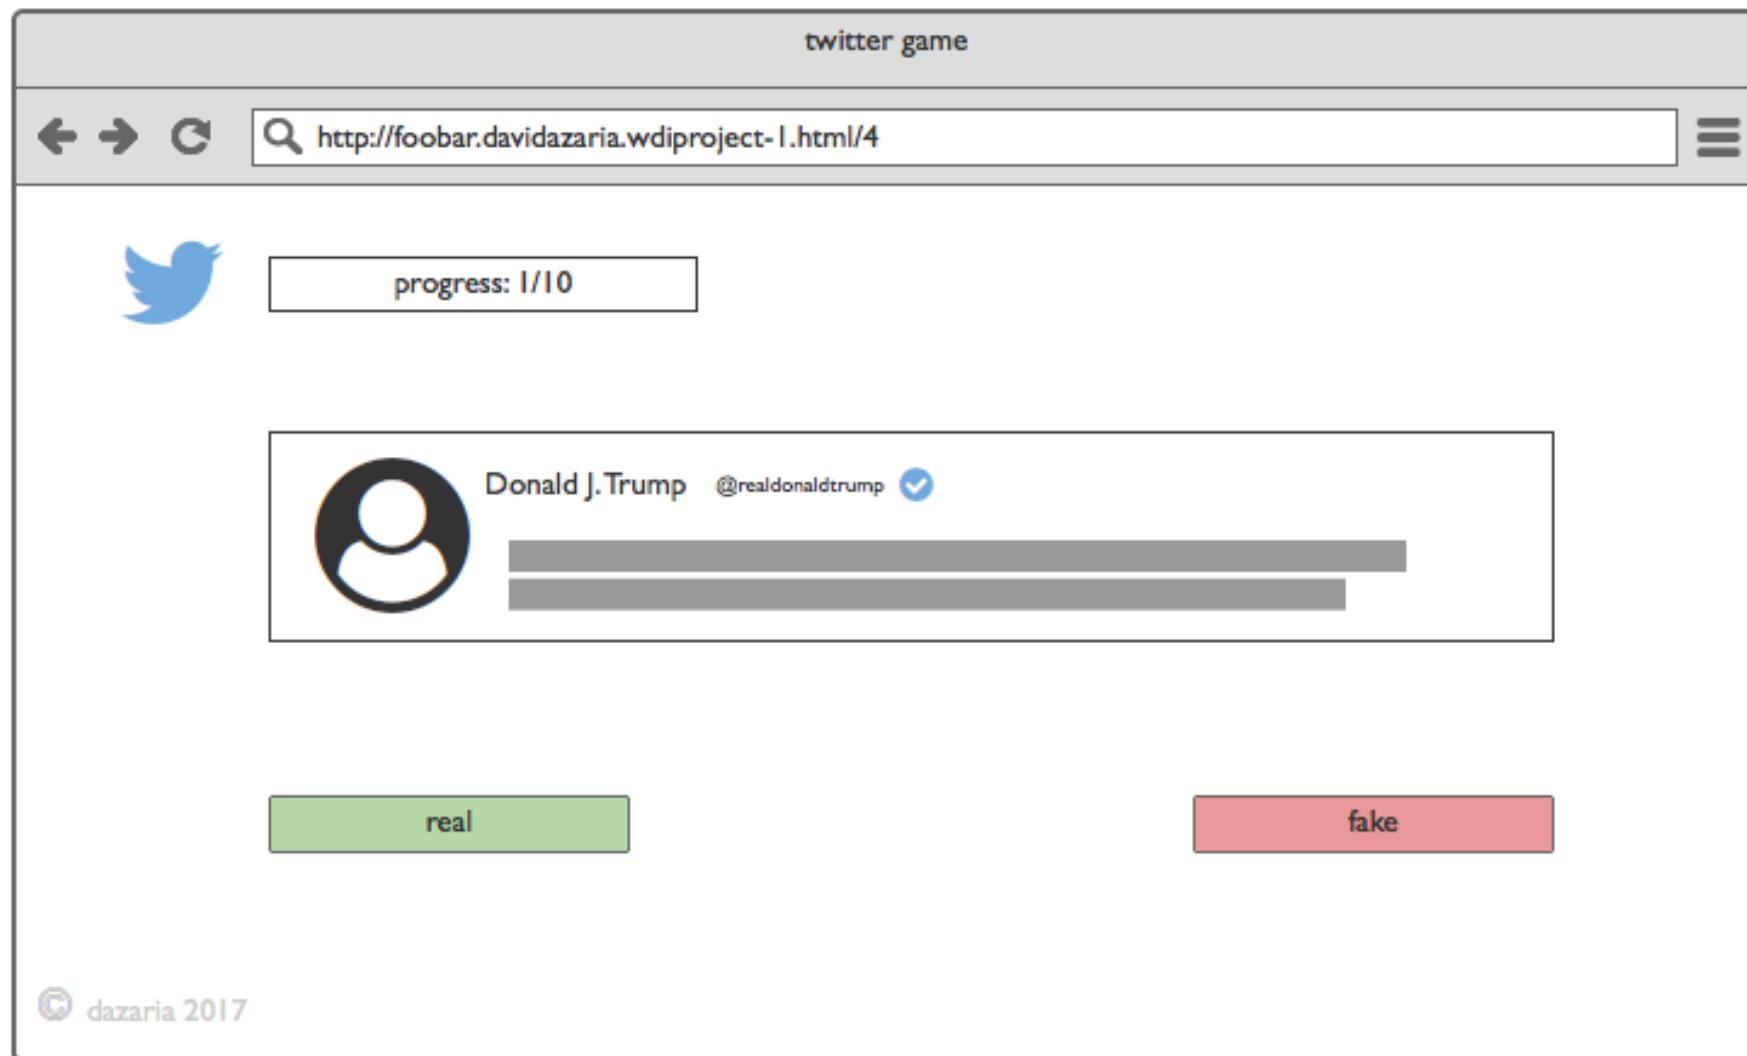

☒ decline to provide my information

 dazaria 2017

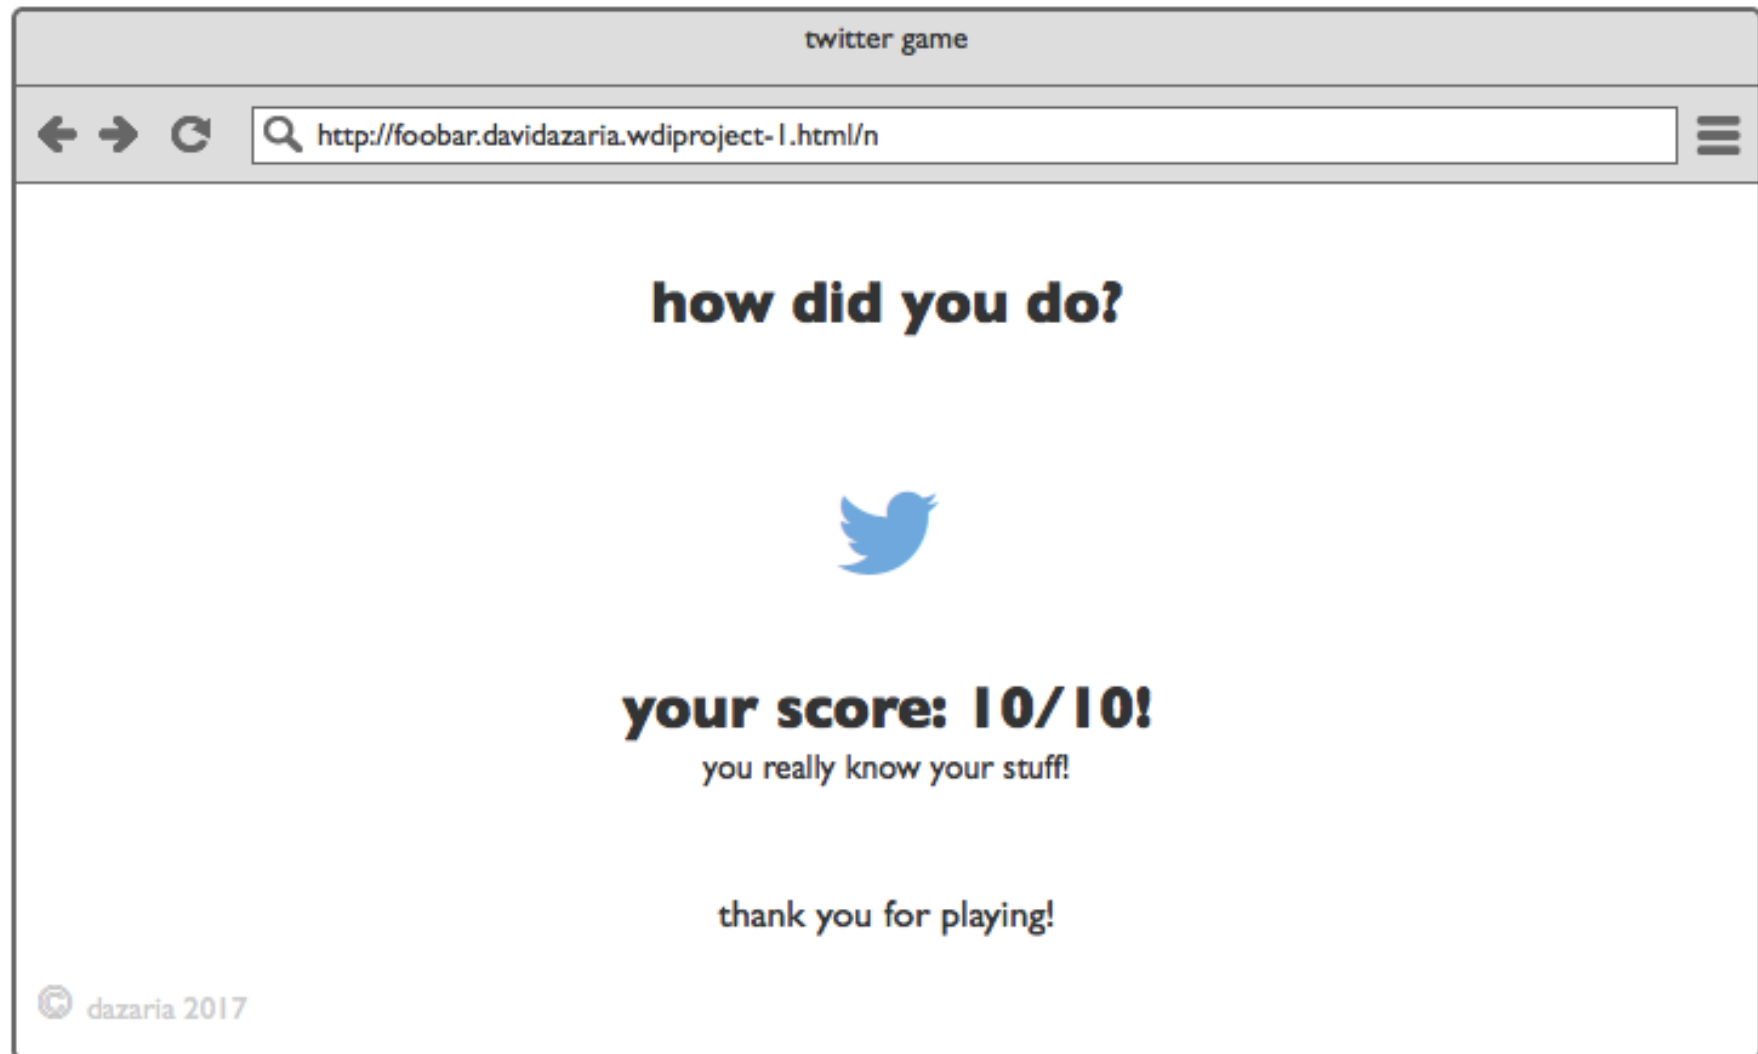

The user here will enter in their name, twitter handle, and zipcode. The name and twitter handle will accept anything and the zipcode will accept an integer. Not sure I will do any validation here but I will write a user story for it. As for the submit button, it will lead to the next page. The decline to provide my information here is just aesthetic; in a more full-fledged version it might do more than this particular bare-boned version. This is to just show the functionality can exist.

Here will be some instructions on how the game works.

Here I will serve up some images of real and fake Donald Trump tweets. The plan for now is to do about ten of these with a progress bar above which might be tricky to do. The real and fake buttons will lead to the next page.

This will show the sum of the right/wrong answers with canned responses for different groups: 8-10: you really know your stuff! 1-7: tough wasn't it? 0: oh no! it's ok, try again next time!